Andrea Celenza, PhD, FABP

Andrea Celenza, Ph.D. is a Training and Supervising Analyst at the Boston Psychoanalytic Society and Institute, Faculty at the Massachusetts Institute for Psychoanalysis and an Assistant Clinical Professor at Harvard Medical School. She is also Faculty at the NYU Post-Doctoral Program in Psychoanalysis. Dr. Celenza has consulted with, evaluated, supervised or treated over 350 cases of therapist-patient sexual boundary transgressions. She has authored and presented numerous papers on the evaluation and treatment of therapists who have engaged in sexual misconduct with a focus on training and supervisory issues. Her book, Sexual Boundary Violations: Therapeutic, Supervisory and Academic Contexts, was published by Jason Aronson in 2007. She has recently produced an online videorecorded lecture on sexual boundary violations designed for ethics seminars, group viewing or individual use. For more information about that, go to www.andreacelenza.com.

Dr. Celenza is Co-Director (with Martha Stark, MD) of a blended, online program in Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy sponsored by William James College (formerly, MSPP). As part of this program, she teaches an online course, What, Where is Psychoanalysis:

teachers, students, supervisors and practitioners who want a firm grounding in psychoanalytic theorizing and practice. Click here for more information on this program

Dr. Celenza has been the recipient of several awards, including the Karl A. Menninger Memorial Award, the Felix & Helena Deutsch Prize and the Symonds Prize. She just completed a new book: Erotic Revelations: Clinical Applications and Perverse Scenarios, published by Routledge. She is in private practice in Lexington, Massachusetts.
